

VERMONT NEWS

A Salvation Army Kidnapper.

The growing of a bull dog in a New York down town hotel, called attention Sept. 9 to the room occupied by Benjamin B. Bolton of Montpelier and 10 year old Mabel Bryant, also of Montpelier, and led to the arrest of Bolton on a charge of abduction and one of a more serious nature. Bolton registered at the hotel the Tuesday before as B. W. Bolton and child. The girl is the daughter of a member of the Salvation Army of Montpelier and when Bolton was arraigned in court he said that the parents of the child sent her in his care to Winsted, Conn., where she was to attend school. He claimed that afterward he secured permission from the barracks to take her to New York city. Bolton was held in bail of $3,000.

Mills Close on Account of Log Drives

On account of the passage through Bellows Falls of the 25,000,000 feet drive of logs belonging to the Connecticut Valley Lumber Co., the mills of the International Paper Co. and the other paper mills of Bellows Falls were closed down for at least a week. In spite of recent rains there was not water enough in the Connecticut to float over the dam the logs and at the same time run the mills, as paper mills take an abnormal quantity of water.

Killed While Picking Cherries.

The lifeless body of N. B. Gove, a farmer residing in the town of Marshfield was found Sept. 11 under a cherry tree on his farm by a searching party. Gove had gone out with his dog Sunday afternoon after cherries. His dog returned alone next morning and a searching party was at once organized with the above result. The man apparently met his death from a fall from the tree, as a broken branch near him indicated. He was badly bruised and several bones were broken. He was 57 years old and unmarried.

Government Buys More Morgans.

The Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States department of agriculture has just purchased in Meade county, Kansas four additional horses for use in the Government breeding work that is being carried on in Vermont with the object of preserving and improving the Morgan breed. These animals are the seven-year-old Morgan mare Fanny P. (Vol. St. A. M. R.), a two-yearling filly by Headlight Morgan (a son of Ethan Allen 2d) and a colt foal out of Fanny P. by Headlight Morgan. One of the fillies is out of Fanny P., and the mare is out of Fanny P., and the mare is out of Fanny P. These horses are among the descendants of a large consignment of selected animals in Vermont and Illinois in the early nineties by the Morgan Horse Company of Carpentersville, Ill., and sent to southwestern Kansas to take advantage of cheap pasture there. The venture was not a success, the company disbanded and the horses being scattered over a wide territory. Some of this stock still remains in Kansas and Oklahoma. The animals bought by the government will be taken to the Morgan Horse Farm at Middlebury.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The White Squaw" at The Colonial Tomorrow Night.

When the romantic American drama, "The White Squaw" is presented here at The Colonial tomorrow night local play patrons will see not only a beautiful play of romance, laughter and tender sentiment, but one of the most remarkable casts that has been assembled for any production this season. Clara Greenwood, who has been a success in the management of Charles Frohman, will appear in the principal role, that of a young girl who has been reared to believe she is an Indian. Other well known players will act characters that are graphically and effectively drawn. The production of "The White Squaw" itself is one of the most picturesque and elaborate scenically and story that will be seen here this season.

ACADEMY NOTES.

A New Professor Secured—First Foot Ball Game an Easy Victory.

On account of the large number of students in the Academy, it was found necessary to add another teacher to its faculty. Milo A. Gibson, a graduate of the University of Vermont, has been procured.

Gibson is a very able man. He taught modern languages for two years in the Burlington high school, at the end of which time, he resigned to accept a position as professor in Kiel, Germany. Mr. Gibson is one of the few to be able to teach under the exchange system of teachers arranged by the Carnegie Foundation.

In the St. Johnsbury Academy he will teach German and United States history.

Saturday, Sept. 16, the first foot ball game this season was called at four o'clock upon the campus, Lyndon Institute vs. St. J. Academy.

Use American Throat Tablets.

THE Colonial Paint

contains only Pure Lead, Pure Zinc, Pure Linseed Oil, Dryer and Colors. We guarantee that nothing whatever but the above materials compose the Colonial Paint. Every can has on it the state's analysis which says 100% PURE. One Gallon when properly applied, will paint more than 300 square feet of surface, two coats. Lead and Oil is expensive and uncertain, and a lot of time is wasted in mixing it. Do not buy a paint that is said to be "just as good". A man who sells one of the "just as good" kinds said to us the other day, "I like the Company because they never fail to make a
